HYLAN WON'T MAKE SPEECH FOR HEARST

Refutes Connors' Announcement He'd Put Editor in Nomination.

HAS NO SECOND CHOICE

As for Own Nomination, He Wouldn't Accept Even if Hearst Asked Him.

LEADS BROOKLYN GROUP

City Delegations Leave To-day on Murphy's Trail to Syracuse Convention.

Mayor Hylan, who goes to the Democratic convention at Syracuse on a special train this morning, declared emphatically again last night he would "under no circumstances" accept a nomination for Governor, not even if William R. Hearst asked him to take it. He also denied that he would place Hearst in nomination.

"You said again last night you would not take the Governorship, Mr. Mayor," a friend said, addressing the Mayor.

"Do you want me to reiterate it?" "What we want to know is whether or not you would take it if Mr. Hearst should ask you to do so?"

"Most emphatically I would not," he said. "I am not a candidate, and under no circumstances would accept a certificate of election."

"Who is your second choice if Mr. Hearst does not get the nomination?" "I have none."

"Do you want to predict now that Mr. Hearst will be nominated?" "I do not. I don't know. All I know is that I want to see him nominated."

Won't Make Speech.

As William J. Connors, manager of the Hearst campaign, declared positively Friday that Mayor Hylan had been selected to nominate Hearst, the Mayor was asked if he were leaving behind copies of his speech.

"I am not going to make any speech," he asserted. "Nothing at all has been said to me about it, and there certainly would have been had they intended me to take such a part."

The Mayor said he had no idea who would place the publisher's name before the convention.

Charles F. Murphy moved the Democratic situation in the direction of Syracuse when he started from the Grand Central Station on the Empire State Express yesterday morning.

The New York and Bronx county delegations will leave on a special train this morning.

Republican delegates from the city have been filtering up to Albany in any way they chose. Many made an automobile trip of it. F. J. H. Kracke and Jacob A. Livingston took that route early yesterday.

Starts Hearst Flurry.

A flurry was started in Democratic circles when Assemblyman Frederick L. Hackenberg, Tammany delegate from the Fourteenth Assembly district, gave out a statement declaring he would vote for Hearst. It was thought at first it might mean the tip had gone out to the delegates to vote as they pleased and Hearst would carry some.

Hackenberg explained it was his own "individual and personal" statement, that he had not even talked to his leader about it and did not know how any one else would vote.

The leader of the Fourteenth district is Thomas M. Farley, who was appointed First Deputy by County Clerk James A. Donegan, a Hearst supporter.

THOUSAND WOMEN TO FIGHT FOR RIGHTS AT SYRACUSE

Four Objectives at Democratic State Convention Include Nominee for Secretary of State and Change in the Prohibition Laws.

SYRACUSE, Sept. 26.—Advance guards of four different women's organizations arrived in Syracuse to-night to fight for the following objectives in the women's Democratic State convention: Nominee for Secretary of State, support of a welfare program, removal of legal disabilities of women and change in prohibition laws. More than 1,000 women will attend the convention.

Among the women earliest on the field was Mrs. Frank A. Vanderlip of Scarsdale, whose presence occasioned considerable surprise, as she has been identified with the Republican party. Mrs. Vanderlip came to get support of her welfare program launched by the New York State League of Women Voters, of which she is chairman.

A notable array of women represents the women's division of the Democratic State Committee, which will seek to have a woman named as a candidate for the office of Secretary of State. Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, Miss Harriett May Mills of Syracuse and Miss Marion Dickerman of Fulton are the candidates backed by this committee. Mrs. William Hutton Blauvelt of New York, State chairman of the National Woman's Party, is here with a band of workers to seek support of legislation removing legal disabilities of women.

The Women's Progressive Democratic Alliance, headed by Mrs. Louis Reed Altgruber, State chairman, has opened headquarters. The alliance advocates change in the prohibition laws.

The Democratic women's committee will give a dinner to-morrow night, when scores of the women leaders, including Mrs. J. Borden Harriman and Mrs. Daniel O'Day of Rye, will give ten minute addresses.

SMITH VOTE HANGS ON N. Y. COUNTY

going to stick to Smith until he is nominated.

"Are there enough delegates instructed to nominate Smith?"

"It is not necessary that they all be instructed. The temper of the up-State Democrats has not changed since the conference in July."

All the suggestions that an agreement be patched up with Hearst for Governor and Smith for United States Senator met with prompt veto by Smith and Kelley. Neither will Smith take second place on the ticket, his friends said.

Several thousands of dollars have been offered for betting at even money at the Yates Hotel that Smith will not be nominated. No takers were reported.

The unit rule will not be forced on any county in the voting. Murphy told the county leaders from New York city to-day that they were free to cast their votes any way they wished.

John H. McCooney of Brooklyn and the Queens-Richmond county delegations are counted for Hearst at least on the first ballot. Those counties are expected to give Hearst about 190 votes.

McCooney will be compelled to go with Mayor Hylan or break with the city administration, and has indicated he will stick with the Mayor. In addition the Hearst men count on between forty and fifty up-State delegates.

The delegates either pledged or indicating a preference for Smith number about 275. Kelley's claim of 392 for Smith includes nine from Rochester and a few scattered. All that Smith will need is the New York county delegation of 134 to win easily. If he can get 275 of his home county delegates Smith ought to be a winner if the claims of his managers are sustained in the roll calls.

Harriett May Mills, leader of the Democratic women, has announced that her associates will demand a place on the State ticket. They would prefer the office of Secretary of State. Among their candidates are Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Mrs. Daniel O'Day and Marion Dickerman.

"The women will support Smith," Miss Mills said. "We are for him strongly."

"Will you support Hearst if nominated?" "No, we would not even ask for a position on the State ticket if Mr. Hearst is named."

Many candidates for the other positions are appearing. Mayor John H. Wairath of Syracuse is mentioned for Lieutenant-Governor, Charles E. Norris of Jefferson and Wallace E. J. Collins of Suffolk for Attorney-General and Irving I. Goldsmith of Saratoga for Secretary of State.

LEWIS INDORSES RUSTON.

Urges Re-election of Kings District Attorney.

Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Lewis yesterday wrote to John L. Ruston, his successor as District Attorney of Kings county, who is the Republican nominee to succeed himself, saying:

"Your service during my administration of the District Attorney's office and your conduct of the office during the past year merit the support of the people who desire to continue an honest and fearless administration."

CABINET WILL GO ON STUMP IN OHIO

Beveridge to Make Keynote Speech of Great Republican Drive.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. New York Herald Bureau. Washington, D. C., Sept. 26.

Former Senator Albert J. Beveridge, Republican Senatorial nominee in Indiana, is to sound the keynote of the Republican campaign in Ohio in the opening meeting to be held in Memorial Hall, Columbus, next Tuesday.

Final arrangements for the campaign opening were perfected here to-day at a conference of Ohio Republican leaders. These and other details of the campaign were approved late this afternoon by President Harding, who received the Buckeye delegation at 2 o'clock.

Announcement was made of the appointment of Walter F. Brown of Toledo to be chairman of the Ohio Republican speakers' bureau and of William E. Halley of Columbus, clerk of the Ohio Senate, to be director of publicity. Both Mr. Brown and Mr. Halley attended the White House conference and accepted the tasks assigned them.

Previous to the White House conference the delegation conferred with Attorney-General Daugherty, who approved the campaign plans worked out in conference with national party leaders.

In the delegation besides Mr. Brown and Mr. Halley were Col. Carmi A. Thompson, the gubernatorial nominee; William H. Miller, chairman of the State executive committee, and Attorney-General John G. Price.

The chief mission of the Buckeye delegation to Washington, that of obtaining speakers of national prominence to aid in the Ohio campaign, was successful. Announcement was made after the White House conference that every Cabinet member, except possibly Secretary Weeks, is to make at least one speech in Ohio next month. It is doubtful to-night whether Secretary Weeks will be called upon because of his well known views on prohibition and the present Republican Congress.

Secretary of State Hughes is booked for one meeting, the time and place to be determined later. The special spellbinders from the Cabinet, according to present plans, are to be Secretary of Commerce Hoover, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, Postmaster General Wood and his first assistant, Secretary of Labor Davis, Charles J. Bartlett and Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt.

Headliners from the Senate are to be Senators Watson (Ind.), Lenroot (Wyo.), Jones (Wash.), McCormick (Ill.), Moses (N. H.) and Pepper (Pa.), with the promise of others as needed. There is to be no limit to the extent to which the Ohio campaign managers can draw on Republican members of the House for special engagements.

Under a reciprocity agreement entered into to-day not fewer than twelve Republican Governors are to be sent into Ohio in return for Buckeye State speaking talent in their respective States.

BEVERIDGE FAVORS HONEST SALES TAX

Urges Its Adoption in Place of Income Tax as Aid to Prosperity.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. EVANSVILLE, Ind., Sept. 26.—Albert J. Beveridge, in a speech here tonight, stressed the principles upon which he is basing his campaign as Republican candidate for United States Senator.

He praised the new tariff law as a means to a greater prosperity, called for the abolition of the Railroad Labor Board as a useless tribunal, urged a sales tax as far more equitable than the income tax, and pointed to the turmoil in Asia Minor as a new warning for America to keep out of foreign entanglements.

"In place of this income tax—in place and not in addition to extortionate surtaxes and corporation and other destructive business taxes—the best plan I have seen is that of non-cumulative sales tax, so graduated as to bear more lightly on necessities like bread and farm machinery than it bears on non-essentials," he declared.

"And the sales tax would be an honest tax. Everybody would know exactly what it amounts to."

"Every unnecessary Government employee must be discharged and sent home to earn his living as the rest of us are earning our living; and this will be done," he asserted.

"Government service could be rendered by at least two hundred thousand fewer persons than the number whose salaries now eat up scores of millions of dollars of the people's money."

"As to foreign affairs politically—keep out! An awful object lesson flames to the heavens before our very eyes. Turkey, Asia Minor and the Balkans are the answer—the red and reeking answer. Everybody now sees that if we had gone into the League of Nations, ratified what Lord Bryce branded as the infamous treaty of Versailles and been trapped into the so-called 'Armenian mandate,' we would now be required to pour out more billions of American money to pay all the expenses of another war and, what would be infinitely sadder, we would now be obliged to send tens of thousands of American young men to blazing lands to extinguish the flames with their blood."

"What of present conditions and the questions of the hour?" he went on. "The Wilson regime left a heritage of public debt, business confusion, governmental waste, unscientific taxation and foreign embarrassment so vast, widespread and untelligent that it seemed well nigh impossible to lift the burdens and straighten out the welter of conditions that cursed America. Yet Republican Congresses and a Republican Administration have already made such progress that even now prosperity draws near. Shall we welcome that long absent companion bearing blessings in her generous hand, or shall we again put our national household in charge of those who only yesterday banished prosperity and put our household in crazed disorder?"

MORGAN J. O'BRIEN QUILTS COHALAN DRIVE

Will Head Lawyers Backing John P. O'Brien.

Morgan J. O'Brien, former Justice of the Supreme Court, has withdrawn from the John P. Cohalan Non-Partisan Committee of lawyers and accepted the chairmanship of a committee of lawyers who will work for the election of Corporation Counsel John P. O'Brien, the regular Democratic nominee for Surrogate.

The other officers are Thomas W. Churchill, vice-chairman; Jerome F. Donovan, secretary, and N. Taylor Phillips, treasurer.

Edward Lauterbach, former chairman of the Republican County Committee, wrote to George L. Shearer, chairman of the Cohalan committee, saying he would support Cohalan.

The Board of Elections announced that in the primaries 186 Republicans and 167 Democrats had written in the name of Surrogate Cohalan.

They fit the average size boy for whom they are intended.
The coats are longer, and therefore much warmer.
The facing on the coat is double so that the buttons will not pull out.
The trousers are cut extra full in the seat, and longer.
In the one-piece styles, the buttons are reinforced on the drop seals.
The back is cut extra long, on one-piece styles, so that the drop seal does not sag between the buttons.
One-piece models, 6 to 14 years; two-piece models, 8 to 16 years
